

Periodical Review: Summary of Information from the Jihadist forums

The second half of April 2011

This report summarizes the most prominent events brought up in the Jihadist online forums in the second half of April 2011. Following are the main issues raised in this report:

- Surfers on various forums call upon Al-Qaeda to re-examine its strategy following the protests erupting throughout the Arab world.
- 500 Mujahideen escaped from a Kandahar prison during a Taliban operation.
- The Salafist-Jihadist movement in Morocco denied involvement in the terrorist attack in Marrakesh.
- The Jihadist forums support the uprising in Syria.

New Publications

Strategy

- A surfer on the "Hanein" Jihadist forum wrote that the non-violent popular protests in Tunisia, Egypt, Libya, Yemen, Saudi Arabia, Oman, Morocco and Algeria prove that the Arab nations are capable of instigating a revolution within days, not months and without the use of arms and violence. These events influence the armed Islamic organizations which believe only the use of force will bring about change. He believes these organizations, which in recent years have perpetrated many of terrorist attacks in Islamic countries, have failed in their endeavors. He, therefore, called upon Al-Qaeda to re-examine its ideology and the steps it took in the field.¹
- In another thread, a surfer wrote that Al-Qaeda must internalize the newly emerged situation and act according to the new reality it has created, so as to gain the people's support. He also wrote that freedom of speech, which is increasing in Arab and Muslim countries, will enable Al-Qaeda to better transfer its messages to the public. The writer calls for a non-violent Jihad, based on preaching Allah's religion, without the use of force and violence, but through the Mosques, schools, various institutions and every other possible venue.²

Instructional and Guidance Publications

- The military publications column of the "Al-Qabidun Ala Al-Jamr" Jihadist media institute published its first military instruction manual titled: "Weakening the Enemy by Remote Detonation" by Abu Safwan Al-Askari.³

Inter alia, the manual deals with concealing bombs, placing explosives, preparing car-bombs, etc.

- A surfer on the "Hanein" Jihadist forum published a correspondence explaining how to become a suicide bomber. The potential bomber must strongly believe in the Islamic religion and the path of the Prophet. He must also internalize the duty to carry out Jihad and to assist other Mujahideen and must also know how to drive a motorcycle or a car.⁴

Promoting the Myth of the Shahid

- "Sawt al-Islam", the Turkestan Islamic Party's (TIP) media center, published a video tape in Turkish entitled "The Lovers of Paradise (part 5)", in memory of the Mujahideen who died for Allah.⁵

Reports from the Field

Afghanistan – Pakistan

- The Islamic Emirate in Afghanistan published a detailed announcement regarding the escape of 541 Mujahideen from a Kandahar prison. The announcement states that on April 25th 2011, 541 Mujahideen succeeded in escaping from the main Kandahar prison, 106 of which are leaders of the attack, the council building was demolished and scores of Shiites who were inside were either killed or injured. The two terrorists who carried out the attack penetrated the council building disguised as soldiers and managed to take some of the employees hostage. Both were killed in the exchange of fire between them and Iraqi government and American forces.

The two terrorists

- The "Islamic State of Iraq" organization published a detailed list of 62 attacks which the organization had perpetrated in the Baghdad area.¹¹
- A member of the "Shumukh Al-Islam" Jihadist forum formed a virtual workshop titled: "Where are the beloved ones of the Mujahid commander Abu Hamza Al-Muhajir? Hasten to us in order to assist his family".¹² The writer requested that members of the forum circulate on social networks such as "Facebook" and "Twitter", as well as on various forums, a message condemning the Iraqi regime's intention to execute Hasna Ali Yehia, the widow of Abu Hamza Al-Muhajir, the "Islamic State of Iraq's" Minister of War eliminated on April 2010; she is currently incarcerated in Iraq with her three children.

The Maghreb

- Salah Abu Muhammad, responsible for Al-Qaeda's propaganda in the Islamic Maghreb, published an announcement regarding the interview which was held with Abd Al-Da'if, a senior propaganda officer in Al-Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb, published on April 16th 2011 in the "Al-Hayat" newspaper. According to the organization, statements falsely attributed to Al-Da'if appeared in the interview, e.g.- a statement as to the organization's success in establishing a number of Islamic Emirates in eastern Libya, that the organization is in possession of surface to air missiles, the sum demanded by the organization for the release of the French hostages, etc. According to the organization, these reports are fabrications and it wishes to clarify several points:¹⁴

1. Everything that was published in the newspaper does not reflect the organization's position.
2. The Algerian and Libyan intelligence forces are behind the fabricated interview.
3. The organization's position with regard to the revolutions is clear. The organization will help the revolutions being carried out by the Muslims, to the best of its ability.
